BEIJING GREEN CORRIDOR 2020

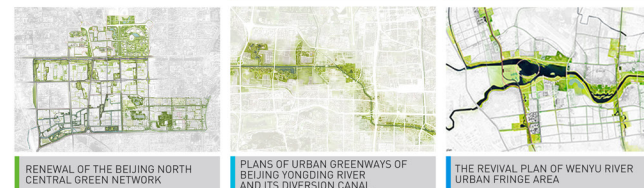

BACKGROUND

- 1 HUGE SCALE OF RESEARCH AREA
The workload including the field analysis, overall planning and detailed is huge, and we hope to make the research as detailed as possible, so as to show better practicability and feasibility.
- 2 COMPLEX URBAN ISSUES
Complex fields are involved, including urban renewal, environmental restoration, public space construction, etc. The requirements of cooperation with multiple disciplines and fields for exploring the spatial potential and urban renewal.

- 3 LACKING ATTENTION FROM THE GOVERNMENT AND SOCIETY
When we started the research, the government and society did not pay enough attention to the related urban renewal work in China, with little investments from enterprises, and limited public engagement.

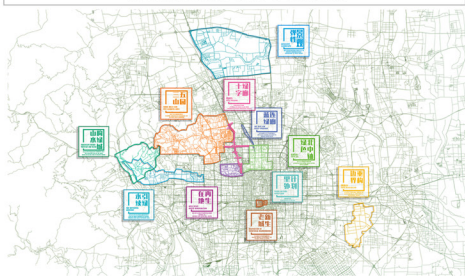

Many difficulties have emerged at the initial stage of development. In order to make the research more forward-looking and creative, to essentially influence Beijing's urban construction, a new framework has been explored.
